Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

Attorney General Earl Warren, non-partisan candidate for governor, declares there is no law to compel anybody in California to drive at 35 miles per hour or less. The reason there is no law, is because Governor Olson is so thoroughly at outs with the legislature that he refuses to call it into session. Speed laws and other emergency legislation is urgently needed but the governor is apparently governed by his personal pique. The needs of California in war time can wait.

But in the meantime James M. Carter, Olson's director of motor vehicles, issues instructions to the highway patrolmen to halt all motorists driving more than 35 miles per hour and report their names to tire ration boards. What the governor refuses to legalize by calling the legislature into session and submitting a bill which would fix the miles per hour, he proposes to accomplish by use of the State Highway Patrol and bureaucratic fiat. No motorist can be jailed or punished legally for exceeding the 35 miles per hour, but the highway officers can make life exceedingly unpleasant for them. This will add another burden to the load the highway patrolmen already carry. It is an outrageous imposition, especially as the highway force is chronically understaffed.

But we doubt whether Governor Olson cares very much anymore whether school keeps or not. He has probably relinquished any fond dream of a second term. The primary election brought him a great disappointment. So he "sics" Mr. Carter on the erring motorists, and lets it go at that.

But those who read this column, we hope, will feel that they have a moral obligation to keep their car speeds down to 35 miles or less an hour. We have a war to win. We can help by conserving our rubber and obeying the federal demand for lower speed. We shall presently be rationed in use of gas. Only a very small percentage of us have any priority as regards tires, tubes, or recaps. The sensible thing to do, as well as the patriotic, is to cut down speeds and keep the old car running, for that is the only way it can be done. Driving speeds are mainly a habit. A lot of habits are going to be revised before this war is won. Even eating habits will be changed willy nilly. Why not begin habit changes by reducing speeds. It can be done by watching the speedometer for a few days while driving.

That notorious humbug, Gerald K. Smith, lately candidate for U. S. senator from Wisconsin, or was it Michigan (?) promised the people of his state rubber tires by Christmas, but along toward the end of his campaign he made Easter the limit. Here is a fine example of the demagogue in action. Whatever is dear to the voters hearts, the candidate glibly promises. However, for once, the electorate silently voted this demogague a liar by electing his opponent. So far, no California candidate has been guilty of this hoax. And, believer it or not, no candidate has promised the people lower taxes this year.

President Roosevelt on returning from a two weeks tour of the middle and far west, told his press conference that there were three things wrong with the country in this wartime. One was his own administrative officers, brass hats that shoot the bull, spread alarms, carry on interbureau feuds, and spread confusion. Another was congressional jockeying and bickering while the war goes on. Playing politics. A third was a minority of the press, which seizes on occasional strikes or labor and employer rows to balloon them into black headlines.

We do hope that Ickes, various generals and admirals, under-sec-

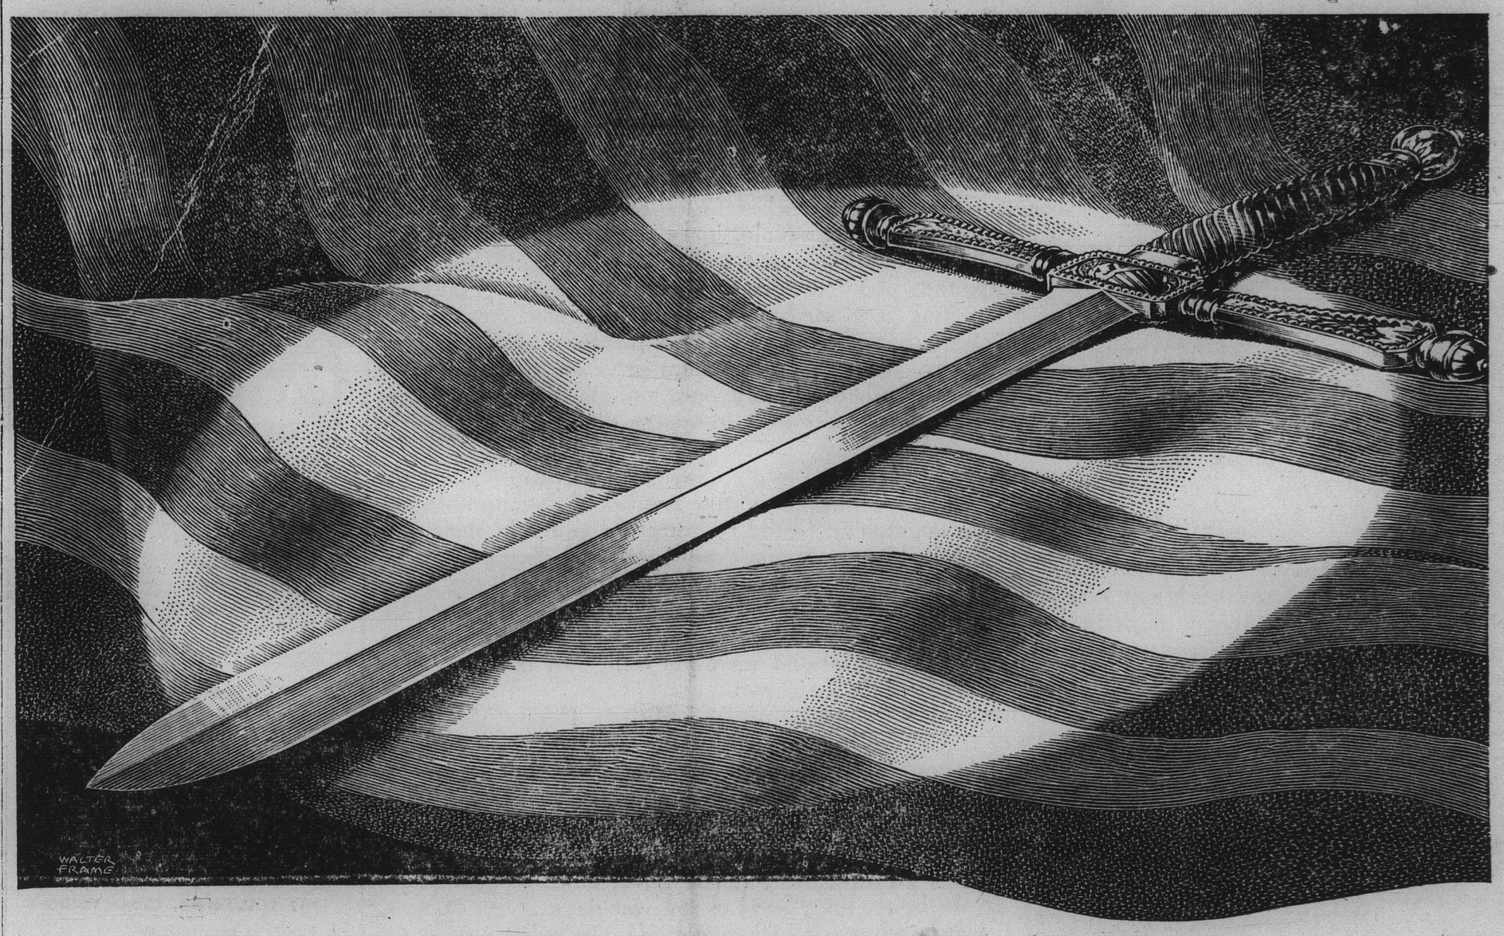
This Is Newspaper Week

The illustration below and the sentiment beneath it were given to the Nevada City Nugget by the Intertype Corporation to use in celebrating this annual event.

Governor Culbert Olson recently referred to the press of California as a "kept" press. He is right, though not in the sense he intended. The press of this state and of the nation is kept by its people. Primarily the press is supported by subscribers and thus is "kept" by the people. Otherwise it could not exist. In this sense Governor Olson was kept by the people for 4 years, at the end of which they decided to keep him no longer. He resents this and remembers that the majority of the California Press warned the people against him four years ago. The people now agree with a majority of the state's newspapers.

The newspapers of the United States, in the great majority, are sentinels who stand guard night and day, watchful that no enemy, without or within, shall steal, usurp or destroy the freedom, all the freedoms, that "we the people" have won in 150 years by "sweat and blood and tears."

The press of the United States as a whole is more representative of the ideals and aspirations of the American people than any other institution, governmental or private. For it is of the essence of those things most precious in their hearts. It makes articulate the thoughts, and the hopes of an uncounted host, that otherwise would be without voice or influence in the destiny of this great nation. The function of the press in a democracy is organic. Governments that have suppressed the Press or degraded it have without exception been destroyed. The Press beats the drums for that long march of peoples toward higher and yet higher goals of civilization.



FREEDOM IS A MIGHTY SWORD

We Americans can rightly be proud of the fact that we are a peace-loving people. That our aim as a nation is to strive to improve human welfare, with freedom and justice for all. ✶ Such a people is always slow to anger, tolerant and patient. But when patience is exhausted, a peace-loving people can turn its peace-time skills into weapons of fierce and righteous wrath. There is only one way such a nation could be enslaved. That would be through propaganda that misleads; through lack of knowledge, and of truth. America's greatest strength is... freedom of the printed word... to give the people truth, truth that builds freedom of thought, of word, and of vision. ✶ This great Freedom tempers the steel out of which a nation and a people can forge mighty swords.

RUBBER BOOTS ARE NOW AMONG RATION GOODS

The purchase of rubber boots and work shoes is now possible only by making application in writing and obtaining certificates from the ration board.

Most types of rubber footwear can be made mostly from reclaimed rubber and are not rationed and can be purchased as usual. However, the public is urged to refrain from buying only such quantities as are urgently required.

The local ration board said rubber boots, tires and all other rubber goods are affected by the critical shortage.

To obtain a certificate the aplicant must fill out two copies of an application form, which is available at the ration board's headquarters here in the City Hall. Applicants can apply in person or by sending a representative or by mail, but must show proof of his identity and must have eligibility established and also must establish the fact that he has no wearable rubber footwear for use on his job. He must agree to turn in for salvage any unserviceable rubber boot wear he owns. Hip boots, over the knee boots, all short heavy boots, all light weight short boots, booties and work shoes less than ten inches in height are the articles that are rationed and for which applicant must establish eligibility.

Ranger Hodgson Reports Ranger To Search For Scrap In Remote Places

In cooperation with the Placer and Nevada County War Boards, Ranger Hodgson of the Tahoe National Forest is making a re-survey of all old mines on the Big Bend district with the view of scrap metal salvage from remote places.

To date over three tons of scrap rubber has been sent from this district to various depots. This has been collected by fishermen, hunters and forest guards. Any person finding old rubber or scrap iron on the Big Bend district is requested to leave it on the edge of a road where fire guards can pick it up.

NEVADA CITY TIES PLACER

In holding the touted Placer Union High School football team to a 6 to 6 tie Saturday, the Nevada City Yellowjackets established themselves as a football squad which will go places this year.

The Yellowjackets threatened to score several additional touchdowns and were but a few inches from a touchdown when the gun ended the game.

Placer scored first, taking the six point lead in the second quarter. Soon after, however, the Nevada Cityans recovered a fumble and then a pass from Bob Wulf to Bill Jamerson produced the tieing points. Both teams failed in the conversion attempts.

TIRE QUOTA ANNOUNCED

The October tire quota of the Nevada City district follows:

New passenger tires, 9; Grade two, passenger tires, 15; retreads, 96; new passenger tubes, 43, new truck tires, 27, retreads for truck tires, 30 and new truck tubes, 36.

DAMAGE SUIT FILED HERE

A suit has been filed in the superior court here by John Speed and Esther Speed, seeking a total of $3.-665 damages from Ira Harris, Douglas Brown and Bert Bevard of Grass Valley.

The suit sets forth that last January 17th, vehicles operated by Ira Harris and Bevard, a truck driver for Brown, collided, the machines in turn running into one operated by Speed, in which Mrs. Speed was also a passenger.

Pierce Bags Deer—

Ralph Pierce was one of the few successful deer hunters yesterday. He shot his buck in the North Bloomfield section.

Mr. and Mrs. John Becker returned Thursday evening from a trip up along the coast going as far as Eureka. From Eureka they jorneyed to several nearby places and found the area busy with defense work.

Caught in the Riffles

Mrs. Lon Paine received a telephone call Saturday from her son, Bob Paine. He said he was on his way to St. Petersburg, Fla., to begin training as an army officer, remarking that he always did want to spend a winter in Florida. Paine was separated at Monterey from Dan Ungaro, a lifelong Nevada City pal. Ungaro's destination is not known.

Now comes a reader to dispute the claim of old timers that the Negro employed at present at the Empire Mine is the only one of his race to ever work underground in the gold mines in this county. He said the Pennsylvania Mine once employed a Negro, but he didn't work long. Every time he stuck his shovel into a muck pile he heard a voice saying: "Don't hurt me!" A ventriloquist at work.

The Paschal R. Vaughan and Ruby Lillian Lopez wedding in Grass Valley yesterday at the Methodist Chuhch was delayed for a short while. The bridegroom forgot the marriage license and had to go all the way to Town Talk after it!

Charlie Hoskin of Nevada City, father of four boys, has left for the Hawaiian Islands to be employed as a miner on defense projects. Frank (Pop) Campbell also left for the Islands.

Pat Courser has quit as a clerk at Penrose's Grocery and has taken a job with the Bret Harte Dairy. . . . Has there been a wholesale invasion of the city by wild life? Two jackrabbits were seen running across Zion Street by the high school the other night and Saturday a snake ambled up Pine Street sidewalk quite a distance before a boy came along and killed it.

Miners Lose Valley Title To Giants

In as thrilling a game as probably ever will be played in the Sacramento Valley League the Marysville Giants yesterday afternoon defeated the Grass Valley Miners by a 7 to 6 score to win the 1942 championship.

The setting was perfect for Marysville pitcher, Tub Perry, as he walked to the plate in the ninth inning. The Giants were behind two runs, the bases loaded and two were out. Perry laced a line drive single into center field, Dick Hoskins muffed the ball. It rolled to the fence. Three runs came in sending the Giants into the lead. Perry was out at the plate.

Then came Grass Valley's half of the ninth. Bart Smythe singled. Paul Bowa beat out a bunt and another bunt filled the bags with no one out. The fans were in hysterics as Ned Fusaro stepped to the platter. He popped out. Hoskins came to bat. Grimly he vowed to make up for his costly error. The first two pitches were balls. He kissed the third pitch. It was on a direct line to the second baseman on the first hop. It was turned into a double play and the ball game ended.

Marysville stepped into a four run lead in the third inning but the Miners came right back to tie it up when Paul Bowa tripled with the bases loaded and then stole home. In that inning Ken Brock, Marysville catcher, crashed into a car while after a foul ball. He caught the ball but was taken to the hospital with a head injury. Brock resumed play in the ninth inning after several stitches were taken to close the wound.

Going into the ninth frame the Miners held a 6 to 4 lead.

The game was witnessed by the largest crowd in several years at Watt Park.

The short score ollows:

	R.	H.	E.
Marysville	7	11	2
Grass Valley	6	11	3

Batteries: Perry, Martin and Brock, Hickson; Turpin and Stassi.

THE FRIENDLY DOOR

The newspaper in your town—you take it, of course, and read it and find much in it to inform you and entertain you but you take it for granted just like the air you breathe or the glass of water always on tap, but suppose there was no newspaper—that newspapers were closed by some Hitler-like edict or padlocked for lack of patronage and the friendly door was no longer open for you to ask for a write-up or space for your lodge, club, church, chamber of commerce. Just suppose you wanted to speed up interest in raising funds for some public benefit, some patriotic effort or that you wanted to put over a hospital project or keep up the enthusiasm of the town for baseball or bowling or soft ball or basket ball. Suppose the police regulations were being ignored or flood conditions neglected and you wanted a gentle reminder, or the fire department needed backing and the soldiers' organizations had a little pat on the back coming for their fine patriotic record and activities—but there were no channels such as newspaper provides. Suppose you wanted to sell or to buy— but there was no newspaper available. Yes, it would not only be depressing, inconvenient and unnatural but it would be costly, costly to community progress and costly to the individual who will never be able to inform the public as promptly and with so little expense as through the friendly columns of the home town press.

This is Newspaper Week all over the nation. Stop and think what the newspaper means to you, how you depend on it and utilize its faciiities. The subscribers and the readers build the circulation and increase the newspaper audience. The advertiser enables the newspaper publisher to make the subscription price almost nil. Advertising is the backbone of your paper. By patronizing the advertising columns directly or encouraging all business men to advertise, you assure the future of your newspaper and its service to you or your organization. During National Newspaper Week prove your appreciation of past courtesies and our willing cooperation fifty-two weeks in the year by pledging your cooperation to your newspaper and the freedom of the press, an institution Americans can't "let down."

The press which is supported by a free people is the greatest asset of any nation. The subsidized press in existence to feather the interest of some special interest or as a propaganda media is to be deplored and spells the downfall of national freedom.

The American way of life is reflected in the newspapers of America and depends on its free press for its perpetuation and many of its blessings. No one is taxed to support the newspaper. It is far more valuable than many of the facilities for which you are taxed. As a public service it is hard to equal. Your voluntary patronage keep the presses running, the payroll going, the friendly door open for your many requests. Say a good word for your newspaper this week and every week.—Sonoma Index-Tribune.

YES, THERE SEEMS TO BE SOME MISUNDERSTANDING

(From California Mining Journal)

When Harry Englebright went back to Washington in the middle of September with the nomination and election tucked in his belt, his constituents were handed a jolt that is not going to be forgotten.

Mr. Englebright made his "access road" bill his hottest campaign issue. In fact it was his broadside. This is the law, you know, that would have given thousands of small owners of war deposits their opportunity of getting their ores out to a government stock pile. All of the 52 newspapers in Harry's district and a number of metropolitan dailies ran the big story of what Harry had done to get this much desired mineral into the hands of the government. Harry's opponents who labeled him an "obstructionist" couldn't get to first base—his road bill had wiped up all the obstructionists and the votes rolled in by thousands from all the mountain mineral districts that have been waiting to supply their ores to the government.

But listen:

Just as Harry was leaving for the national capital for another two years he told Edmund Kinyon, editor of the Grass Valley Morning Union, a big joke, resulting in Ed's printing of the following:

> "Some confustion exists as to the status of the Englebright access roads bill from which relief to the mining interests in general was expected. Authoritative word is that the bill, carrying a relatively large appropriation, became law many months ago. However, following the entry of the United States into the war, the bulk of the proceeds was through some governmental process diverted to the Army and Navy for the building of roads and terminals essential to their emergency operations. Beyond some two or three hundred thousand dollars, the mining objective has not benefitted."

Maybe Harry will be back again two years from now looking for votes.

TOOT AT 'EM

Patriotic motorists complain that when they conform to the government's order of a maximum speed limit of 35 miles per hour that other motor vehicles go tearing past them as if they were standing still. They want to know what to do with these more reckless drivers who don't seem to care how soon they wear out their tires or how much gasoline they waste.

The proper authorities can and must deal with those people who refuse to conform to wartime regulations. They can be punished by being denied recaps or synthetic tires—if and when synthetic rubber is available for private automobiles. They can also be punished by being refused used tires, which have now been frozen and are to be rationed in the future.

Patriotic citizens can best show their contempt of these wasteful drivers by giving them a derisive toot of the automobile horn when being passed on the highway. If some motorist goes too fast, give him a Bronx cheer from your horn. Show him that are are a conservationist and doing your part, shame him into doing the same.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder if the lovely things
Which we have kept in kitchen gardens,
And over which we've always ruled,
High handed, dictatorial wardens,
Will spurn our really overt ways,
Or forge indeed so far ahead,
That we will give them honored space
And plant them in the tulip bed.

I wonder if you are amazed at the rapidity with which vegetables are coming to the front. During post years, we have given these humble denizens of the vegetable kingdom very little consideration. Oh, I know we have planted them and given them a certain amount of necessary care, but we have never treated them as equals, never allowed them to grow pridefully or conspicuously. Now however, all this is changed.

Vegetables have emerged from the victory garden with a vengeance. They now appear arrogantly in front lawns, rose gardens and other floral reserves. They are to have their hitherto disregarded beauties displayed at flower shows, in the words of the Georgia cracker, "how can it was."

I wonder if these revoluttinary members of the V kingdom will get completely out of hand. We have oppressed them, are they about to turn and wreak vengeance upon us? For many long years we have plucked and peeled them, scraped and sliced them, baked and boiled, pickled and pared them. dried and canned them—make them serve us, furnish needed vitamines and build our bodily vigor and all this time, we kept them secluded in back yards in spaces dignified only by the term, kitchen gardens.

Several years ago I wrote a series of articles extolling the historic, romantic and decorative merits of our humble servitors, the vegetables. Could I interest an editor in their publication? I could not. At the time, I suffered disappointment, but now, I have the satisfaction of knowing that I was ahead of the times and that by writing in their defense, I gained the confidence of potatoes, beets, carrots, et al, and that in gratitude, they will respect and serve me well, now that they have come at length into their own.

I wonder if some of us are selfish. Really, the young men of the nation together with their mothers and fathers are the only ones who have made great sacrifices, but several so-called pressure blocs seem to be singing—

I'll tak' the high road an' you tak' the low road,
An' I'll get inflation afore ye;
But me an' my true pals will never more go down
To the bony, bony level of pre war days.

Let's abandon our high roads and climb down from our high horse. We will have to, you know, before this war is won.

Uncle Silas says: "I never did like to have a strange young man step up to the door upon a certain occasion and sing, "Happy Birthday to You." but it's worse now when they are singing ads all over the radio. I shouldn't be surprised if some day I heard a nice fat voice singing the war news.—A. Merriam Conner.

FOLLOW THE LEADER

News in Rhyme Over KJBS Daily at 12:30 P. M.

Written by Harley M. Leete, Jr.

President Roosevelt's just gotten back,
From a two-week tour of our nation.
In the states he toured, he found no lack,
Of grim determination.

The nine-thousand mile inspection trip,
Covered twenty-four states in all.
And nary a slip of a careless lip,
Exposed it to gossip's squall.

The people are ready, the President said,
To sacrifice for the war.
It's time for congress to forge ahead,
And play the leader more.

The people are ahead of the government, too,
And want to carry the fight,
Through thick and thin with spirit true,
And win with honor bright.

Another thing the president found;
That the cost of living rises,
With such precipitous leaps and bounds,
That it leads to wild surmises.

If there are jitters in this big nation—
(And only a few have got 'em)
They're caused by the menace of inflation,
With high prices at its bottom.

The people who harm our effort most,
Are those who take little troubles,
And with withering sacrasm, sneer and boast,
Blow them up into bubbles.

They try to make the country believe,
Rank discord is the rule;
But any American who would grieve,
At such a lie is a fool.

Those are the conclusions our president drew,
On his continental span—
That vigorous man will see us through—
And we'll support his plan.

retaries, bureau heads and alphabetical soupers hear the president's words, or read them. Regarding congressional politics playing, well, who was it that recently backed an unsuccessful entry for the Democratic nomination for governor of New York? We concur of course, but we do believe the president could set congress a better example than he does. And, we wont dismiss the arraignment of a minority of the press with a shrug. The president particularly hit press and radio commentators. By and large this shaft was truly aimed at a shining mark. They, or a considerable number o them, do abet politics playing congressmen, and do perform megaphone service for brass hats and stuffed shirts for whose appointment to wartime posts the president is responsible, and of whose public utterances he now complains. We agree with him heartily in all three criticisms and humbly suggest that the president has the power to curb all three wartime nuisances. It may be that his talk before the assembled reporters in the White House was intended to do just that.

TWO WAY RADIO INSTALLED IN CAPT. JOE BLAKE'S CAR

Captain Joe Blake, of the state highway patrol, has just recently had a two way radio installed in his car. This radio transmitter enables the officer to call headquarters and receive an answer. Captain Blake has for some time contended that all state cars should be equipped with the two way radio. This new device permits an officer to call and receive an answer from the person he is trying to contact. In the old method headquarters was called but it was never certain that their calls were received. An illustration was that he should find trouble in either city and could call headquarters and they in turn would call their police department, the acknowledgment being made to the calling officer. Very few law violators will be able to escape with such modern equipment, Captain Blake stated. All state cars will have the same equipment in time, he said.

EXTENT OF ESSENTIAL MINERALS IN THIS COUNTY TO BE DETERMINED

The committee appointed by the County Supervisors Association of California to cooperate with the various state and federal agencies in the locating of strategic minerals essential to the war effort will start a survey to determine extent of the vital metals in the mining counties of the state.

Cary S. Arbogast of Nevada City, chairman of the Nevada County Board of Supervisors, is a member of the committee, of which M. C. Merrell of Groveland, Tuolumne County, is president.

The committee will also assist the mine owners and operators in the development and marketing of their minerals through the medium of government stockpiles or truckload purchasing depots and aid in the obtaining of roadwork, as well as to work on legislation for the benefit of strategic minerals, which are vitally needed in the conduct of the war.

P. M. Millspaugh, who was named secretary of the committee, said county supervisors are close to the people within their districts and have intimate knowledge of local conditions and those in the mining areas are well acquainted with the mineral situation in their territories, which enables them to cooperate more closely with the individual mine owners and prospectors thereby obtaining information that would be dificult to otherwise obtain.

The committee urges those counties containing strategic minerals to form a strategic minerals survey committee of their own, which will enable the counties to cooperate more closely with the individual mine owners as well as with the association.

The committee also urges all mine owners or operators having strategic minerals on their property to send in survey sheets covering their deposits, so that the committee may assist them more directly with their individual problems. These survey sheets may be obtained from county clerk, Supervisor Arbogast or by writing direct to the strategic minerals survey committee headquarters in Sacramento.

Deer Hunters Cooperate In Keeping Down Fires,

According to reports received from District Ranger J. R. Hodgson at Big Bend Ranger Station, deer hunters are cooperating well in keeping down fires. More hunters than in any past season were on hand for the first part of the season and a few nice bucks were taken. Up to October 1, the bucks were laying in the heavy brush and hunting has been difficult. Until recently deer checked have all had horns in the velvet. Hodgson believes that the bucks will move to higher ground soon.

No hunting party has yet refused to leave matches and tobacco at cars while out in the woods, Hodgson states. This type of cooperation is a real aid in protecting our forests.

MAIL CHRISTMAS GIFTS TO SERVICE MEN BY NOV. 1ST

Christmas packages for men in the armed forces should be mailed between October 1st and November 1st to insure delivery by the holiday time.

This is a part of the instructions onChristmas mailing to soldiers, sailors and marines received by Postmaster Betty Martin West.

"Arrangements have been made by the postoffice department in cooperation with the army and navy department for the acceptance of Yuletide parcels for those serving outside of Continental United States, including Alaska." the announcement said. "Special efforts will be made to insure delivery of parcels mailed by November 1st."

Other instructions for mailing parcels overseas are as follows:

In order to conserve shipping space for war essentials, parcels should not exceed the present limits of eleven pounds in weight or eighteen inches in length and girth combined.

All gift packages should be labeled "Christmas Parcel" and should be packed in substantial boxes and covered with wrappers of sufficient strength to withstand pressure and fairly rough handling.

Nonperishable matter should be included in any parcels and the war and navy departments point out that since men are amply povided with food and clothing, the public is urged not to include such items in gift parcels.

Postage must be fully prepaid, and mailers are advised to insure gifts of more than ordinary value.

Game Warden Earl Hiscox, patrolling for night deer hunters at midnight Saturday, stopped a car travelling toward Reno.

The occupant was Ervine Craig, 15, and after questioning by the game warden admitted he escaped from a juvenile home near Bakersfield.

Hiscox took him to the county jail and Bakersfield authorities were notified.

Latest reports from Merritt Rector who is quite ill in a bay city hospital, is that he was somewhat improved.

ENGAGEMENT OF MISS DOROTHY M. BOSANKO IS MADE KNOWN

The engagement of Miss Dorothy Bosanko and Malcolm J. Bell, Canidian world war veteran, was announced yesterday by Mrs. Mary A. Bosanko of Grass Valley.

The announcement is the culmination of a romance of nearly a year. The bridegroom to be is a master mechanic for the Otis Elevator company in Oakland now engaged in war work. He saw service overseas during the last war with one of the crack Canadian regiments. He is an alumnus of the Oakland schools.

Miss Bosanko, after graduating from Grass Valley High School, entered business college, and continued her studies after becoming secretary to W. E. Wright. She became one of the most expert of the county's stenographers, doing yeoman service for Mr. Wright during his years as district attorney of Nevada County.

When Mr. Wright gave up his office in this city Miss Bosanko continued as secretary to Ward Sheldon, recently elected district attorney.

Her many friends will be pleased at the announcement of her engagement. During the years she has spent as legal stenographer for Mr. Wright and Mr. Sheldon, she has won the respect and admiration of a host of friends in business and social circles. Quite recently Miss Bosanko was the guest of four sisters and a number of nieces of her fiance at his Oaklond home. They gave a linen shower in her honor and introduced her to many relatives and family friends.

While the date for the wedding has not yet been set, the announcement is expected shortly. After marriage the couple will reside in Oakland on 60th street, which is almost on the boundary between Berkeley and Oakland.

ROUND up your scrap metal—it's needed to make steel. Steel for armor plate to protect him from bombs and bullets. Steel for weapons to help him do the job that must be done before he can come home again.

You don't want production figures. It's enough to know that 50% of all new steel is made of scrap—that our steel mills now have only enough scrap in sight to last another 30 days at the most!

What happens after that depends on all of us. If production falls and you've not done your part, will you rest easy?

Next week we're starting a collection drive—to build the biggest stockpile of scrap metal you've ever seen. Then when the mills need it, we'll have it—because you came through ... for his sake!
